Like Grover Cleveland, J. A. DeBoer of Montpelier, will have none of it. Both have been given credit for a good deal of wisdom.

By an overwhelming vote the Cuban reciprocity bill has passed the Senate and has received the signature of the president. Although long delayed the act will be acceptable. It comes too, in time to be a Christmas present for the Cubans.

When the smoke of Boston's recent political battle had cleared the Republicans found that they had one solitary bit of consolation, and he was a forlorn looking alderman to be placed with twelve Democrats. He must consider himself a "peculiar people."

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is doing a noble work; but hasn't the mission of the society become well enough established in the public mind to preclude the necessity of publishing the fact when chloroform has been administered to a stray cat or a "bag-bones" has been treated to a square meal? It really seems that the public carries a distinct idea of the society's good work to make the rehabilitating of those minute details unnecessary.

The granite manufacturers have been granted space in the Manufacturers' building at the St. Louis world's fair for the exhibition of granite. The next thing in order is to get the wherewithal, with which to fill the space. The business men in this section are taking hold of the subscription in good shape, and the scheme for the aggrandizement of the Barre granite industry is certain to be pushed to a successful issue. There will be but a temporary loss, in any case, as the returns will be multiplied.

Water.
 The milkman bath a cunning air;
 The flounder bath manners shy;
 There's water, water everywhere,
 Yet pocketbooks are going dry.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

To Increase Their Joy,
 So much some people we could name
 Delight to tell us o'er
 How much they know, it's quite a shame
 They do not know much more.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Returns from samples of water recently sent from Northfield to the state laboratory of hygiene at Burlington state that the water is biologically and chemically of good quality.

Mrs. Mary E. Baraby, who is the mother of Edward Baraby of Winoski, has just celebrated the 100th anniversary of her birth at Brockton, Mass. She lives with her youngest child, Mrs. Edward LaBele, and is active, being a regular attendant at church if the weather is favorable.

Dr. Charles L. Sander of Boston has been in St. Johnsbury where he performed an operation on the right leg of Dr. John M. Allen, who was injured in the automobile accident at the Caledonia county fair in September, to facilitate the knitting of the bones at the knee joint. The condition of Doctor Allen has been very comfortable since.

The jury in Windsor county court at Woodstock has returned a verdict in the case of Mrs. Anna J. Luce against F. V. Hassam of Gayville in favor of the plaintiff. It will be remembered that in May of last year Mrs. Luce was driving past Mr. Hassam's premises in Gayville when the wagon, it was claimed, struck a stone placed in the highway near his house, throwing her out and injuring her seriously. The sum named in the writ was $10,000 and she was awarded $1,816. Hassam's defense was that he had permission of the selectmen to place the stone there to protect the sidewalk, that the wagon did not hit the stone and that the woman was not hurt as badly as was claimed.

BERLIN.

The next dance at Will Reed's will be New Year's night.

Health Officer Huse is making his annual inspection of school houses.

We overheard the following recently: "How do you like your telephone?" "Oh fine—between bill times."

Arthur Martin has a dozen men at work cutting timber and wood on the lot that was owned by his uncle, the late David Martin of Williamstown.

The question of water is becoming a serious one with some of our farmers who may be compelled to go long distances to water their stock should the steady cold weather continue.

Frank Fitz Andrews and wife of Malden, Mass., who are visiting relatives here and in Montpelier return home in a few days. Mr. Andrews who is employed as a Pullman porter goes to Florida for the winter.

Mrs. Louise Loveland, who has been making an extended visit to her son, Dr. M. Huse, returns to her home in Woodstock today. Mrs. Loveland is 94 years old, but bears her weight of years as gracefully as many half her age.

Special values in ladies' and gents' umbrellas, with solid sterling silver handles and swedges, for $2.50 and $2.75 at Abbott's.
